Hey all:

I'm available to meet next Monday (except between 10:30 – noon) or any time on Wednesday.

FYI – Jim and I held a call last month with staff from Sen. Stabenow's office, who remain very interested in the Allied site. We can also expect to hear from Sen. Levin and Rep. Upton (and others?) as the proposed plan is released and the public hearing nears.

Francisco,

We do not have any meeting dates set. The Feasibility Study document is going to be released to the public by the end of April/early May and the Proposed Plan document will not be released to the public until sometime in May. So, the meeting will most likely not occur until late May or sometime in June. However, we should discuss how to best continue public interaction between now and then, as well as how to conduct the public meeting, so that the formal public hearing can occur. I am concerned that a public strategy may be to ultimately disrupt the public meeting so that the hearing cannot take place.

Jim

Don and Francisco,

Below is a Superfund weekly report that was submitted to Rick Karl regarding the Allied Landfill at the Kalamazoo River Superfund site. We are planning on having a public meeting proposing a remedy (and formal public hearing) for the landfill sometime in May or June. However, as you'll see from the press information below, this is a pretty contentious issue with the community. I anticipate further press and congressional interest, as well as several controls.

I think it would make sense to get everyone together to develop a media/communication strategy to address this, as well as get everyone up-to-speed on this topic.

If we could get together sometime Monday or Wednesday of next week that would be great. Please let Michael and I know your availability.

Thanks

FYI,
 Here's the version of the Allied hot issue write-up that Joan forwarded to the SFD front office. She added more info about our meeting with the mayor, among other changes.

Remedial Response Branch 1 & 2 Weekly Report for the Week Ending April 5, 2013

Public Opposition Mounts to EPA Proposed PCB-Containment Cleanup Plan for Allied Landfill, Allied Paper/Portage Creek/Kalamazoo River Site, Michigan

Press Interest/Coverage: Fox 17, Kalamazoo Gazette/Mlive Kalamazoo, Michigan Public Radio, WWMT NewsChannel 3, WKZO

The Kalamazoo River Cleanup Coalition, a local grass-roots organization, held a meeting in Kalamazoo on April 2, 2013 to develop strategies to oppose EPA's likely proposal to leave PCB waste in place at the Allied Landfill. According to local news reports, the organizing meeting drew more than 100 people and follow-up organizing meetings are planned. EPA met with Kalamazoo Mayor Bobby Hopewell on March 12, 2013 to hear the Mayor's perspective on the waste-in-place alternative and the other cleanup alternatives under consideration. The Mayor made clear his preference that all PCB-waste be removed, however, did indicate interest in a PCB-containment option that allowed for tens of acres of land around the landfill to be restored for commercial or recreational development. On March 26, 2013 City staff presented information about the alternatives to the City Commissioners in an open meeting and reportedly asked for guidance and feedback on how to proceed. The Kalamazoo River Cleanup Coalition then scheduled the April 2 strategy meeting with the goal of pressuring EPA to remove all the PCB waste from the landfill.
